Arts Council of Greater Kalamazoo Announces 2021 Fiscal Year Grant Opportunities and Workshops

KALAMAZOO, Mich. – The Arts Council of Greater Kalamazoo (ACGK) is pleased to announce the 2021 fiscal year (FY) grant opportunities and free workshops available to the community.

During the FY20 grant cycle, the ACGK awarded $351,000 to 83 artists and organizations, added three new grant programs, including the COVID Bridge Fund for Art Organizations, and supported 80 participants in seven free grant workshops.

“The Arts Council is pleased to be able to continue to offer grants to artists and arts organizations while they plan their recovery and re-openings,” said ACGK Executive Director Kristen Chesak.

The ACGK will offer seven different grant programs throughout 2021 grant cycle. It will also host 12 free grant workshops during 2021 to help potential applicants through the grant application and utilization process. Grant application fees are waived for Arts Council members.

“We also hope that potential recipients will take advantage of our grant workshops to shape the applications for the best chance possible to get funding,” said Chesak.

“Since our staff does not make the decisions about the grant funding, we are perfectly positioned to give great advice, and we love to talk about all of the great projects and opportunities that our artists are planning for our community.”

Interested individuals and organizations can find more information on how to apply for grants and register for workshops on the ACGK website at www.kalamazooarts.org.
